ERICK TOLEDO

Water Specialist

978-227-2277 | etoledo@rcapsolutions.org

Mr. Toledo has more than 15 years of experience working in water, wastewater and solid waste management internationally and domestically. As a Rural Community Development Specialist at RCAC, Mr. Toledo conducted water and wastewater rate analyses, provided on-site technical assistance and training, identified funding sources and assisted systems with applications, developed source water protection plans, assured compliance and implemented consolidation projects with public water utility officers and their surrounding communities, some of which were funded by HHS/OSC. Erick also worked as a Program Manager at the Desert Research Institute (DRI) and a Program Coordinator of the Clean Water Initiative, where he oversaw international WASH programs in multiple countries in Latin America. His work included curriculum and database systems development, monitoring and evaluation programs and the organization of emergency response efforts to reestablish water service.
